About this event

The UK has withdrawn from the Erasmus+ and European Solidarity Corps programmes. This seems like a disaster for young people, educators and organisations involved in international mobility. All over Europe, our colleagues and partners are asking what this means for future cooperation with the UK. What are the facts? What are the possibilities? What is the UK government proposing, and how are schools, universities and youth organisations responding?

As part of our 'Beyond Erasmus+' series, the Centre for International Learning and Leadership is hosting a webinar for organisations in Europe and beyond to hear the latest information and ideas about the future. We will tell you what we know so far, we will answer your questions, and we will encourage you to stay positive!

If you are an organisation in the UK with partners overseas, please do encourage them to participate in this online event.
